DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-8, drawn to a magnetic field generator assembly, including to a plurality of magnetic elements, classified in class 335, subclass 296.
 - II. Claims 9-15, drawn to a magnetic resonance imaging apparatus, classified in class 324, subclass 318.
 - III. Claims 16-22, drawn to a method of manufacturing a magnet element assembly for an MRI apparatus, classified in class 29, subclass 602.1.
2. Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed, because the combination can have an electromagnet or a single magnet to generate required magnetic field. Also, the subcombination has separate utility such as use in magnetic resonance spectrometers for analysis of biological molecules or for hydrocarbon exploration in well logging.
3. Inventions I and III are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process

Art Unit: 2859

(MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case, the product as claimed can be an electromagnet or a single magnet made of magnetic material, which is made by a different process.

4. Inventions II and III are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product could be made by another and materially different process. In the instant case, the product as claimed can be a single magnet or an electromagnet, which is made by different processe.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above, and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

7. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

8. A telephone call was made to Mr. Jay Chaskin to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.
